

We were running, desperately down the hallway when I noticed something was amiss.

"Eli!" I screamed down the hall "Come on she's right behind us!"

I saw him lying on the floor, and got very angry, very quickly

"What are you-" I trailed off, suddenly realising that he wasn't taking a break. My jaw dropped open in shock. Eventually my delayed tears came rushing out. Hysterically, I moved on, leaving a trail of devastation in my tracks. I couldn't believe that everything I loved had just disappeared... but it didn't matter now, I just had to get out, for me.